Thousands Already at the Fair Grounds

SPECIAL POLICE HAVE BEEN STATIONED AT THE EAST SMETHPORT BRIDGE OVER THE CREEK TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

The W. H. Bloch Shows, are Furnishing Entertainment for the Midway are Giving Up-to-Date Shows—D. L. Dennis of Eldred, Pa., has an Entry of 21 Prize Holsteins From His Blooded Herd at Eldred.

Bigger and better than ever before is the conviction of the thousands who have already visited the Fair Grounds at East Smethport. Not one item in the ambitious program of the new officials of the Fair Association, undertaken 6 weeks ago, failed to materialize.

The horse barns are filled with the best aggregation of racers in years, in number exceeding those at the Warren Fair last week by half. The racing program, calling for a trotting, a pacing and a running event each afternoon except Friday, when there will be a county race in place of the trotting event, is fully assured with plenty of entries in each one to make the competition keen and interesting.

Secretary Rice claims that the horse-men represented at the Fair this year are the finest set of men in the racing game that he has had to deal with in all his experience as secretary here—a fact which assures the public that the races will be run in a fair, square and above-board manner with no previous understandings between the owners.

That the interest manifested in this year's Fair is far greater than usual and more extensive than merely about Smethport, is amply attested by the fact that two weeks ago more season tickets had been sold in Bradford and Kane than ever before. In fact the sum realized from these sources is $1065, far in excess of usual total.

The exhibits are larger and better than ever before. One woman, for instance, has eighty entries in the canned fruit, preserves, etc. D. L. Dennis with his entry of 21 prize Holsteins from his blooded herd at Eldred, alone makes the barns worth visiting. But you don't want to fail to see the biggest pumpkin ever. Those who claim to know say that the thing weighs over 100 lbs.

The W. H. Bloch Shows, who take up most of the midway with their up-to-the-minute shows and entertainment devices, arrived in the Fair Grounds Tuesday morning after considerable difficulty due to train service, and immediately took up the large amount of space allotted to them. Their apparatus is all of the first order—a new $10,000 merry-go-round, a ferris wheel that is a beauty, jango swings, shows, and in fact everything that such a company usually carries, though in this instance, of the very best, are to be found.

The midway is crammed and crowded with fun for those that care for that end of the Fair. Every inch of grounds from the gate through to the turn back of the grandstand, and part way from there to the cattle barns, is taken up. Beyond these concessions of every imaginable form, extend the tents given over to the Farm Bureau and to exhibits of farm machinery and farm implements.

The W. C. T. U. have erected their tent as usual to the south of the grandstands as a rest station for the ladies and a place where they may check their bundles and packages in safety. The service of the organization has been deeply appreciated in the past.

All the advertised free acts were on the grounds Monday—the Three Raymonds, Harry Wheadon and the Two Fishers—and their entertainment on the large platform in front of the grandstand has proved to be more than equal to the promise of the association officials.

BLOWING RESUMED AT THE GLASS FACTORY

Repairs were completed and blowing was resumed at the plant of the Smethport Window Glass Co. last Wednesday night at midnight. Some difficulty was at first encountered by reason of the fact that the glass was not of the best quality, there being considerable dirt present from some source. This trouble has been located and removed and the plant is now running as usual.

There was no halt made in some of the departments for the repairs, notably in the cutting department, where a large supply of glass was on hand, previously blown and flattened, to keep these men busy. Likewise the packers and the men in the warehouse had plenty to keep them going, but now with all departments at work, the entire force of the company will be engaged.

DEATH OF MISS NETTIE DUNTLEY

Miss Nettie Duntley passed away Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Curtis of East Smethport.

She had been ill for a little more than a year with a complication of diseases.

She was born September 2, 1860. Her parents were John and Jane Duntley.

Three sisters survive her to mourn her loss: Mrs. G. T. Tweed of East Butler, Pa.; Mrs. Charles Hartmeyer of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. Charles Curtis of East Smethport.

She was a devout Christian, a life long member of the Baptist Church. She possessed a sympathetic joyous nature, and was a patient sufferer during her illness. She will be greatly missed by both relatives and friends.

Funeral services will be at Curtis' residence Thursday at 2 o'clock p.m.

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep and still;
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale and chill;
The lids that will not lift again,
though we may call and call;
The strange, white solitude of peace that settles over all.

HARDING—THE EDITOR

International.

Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President, is thoroughly familiar with the imposing stone and can "make-up" rapidly and skillfully. Here he is shown "making-up" forms in the composing room of his newspaper, the Marion (O.) Star.

THE LOCAL BASE BALL NINE GOT TWO MORE LICKINGS LAST WEEK

Rixford Applied the Knock-Out Last Sunday.

Two more defeats were added last week to the rather long list that the local base ball team has been piling up lately, the aggregations at Mt. Jewett and at Rixford being responsible for the two reverses.

The former team took over Smethport to the tune of 11-3 on the mountain top last Thursday. R. Hull did the swirling and accounted for himself in very fair shape, but his teammates failed to measure up to the job that was cut out for them and presented their opponents with enough unearned runs to win two ball games.

Paul Denning, one of the star players, had the misfortune in this game to break a bone in his foot, an accident that will keep him out of the line-up and on crutches for about two weeks.

Rixford applied the second knock-out of the week in Sunday's game on their own grounds. Both teams were short of men and were forced to call in outside aid, Rixford using Keane of Bradford at second and talent from Shinglehouse in the pitcher's box. Smethport called to their aid two men from Mt. Jewett, Clark to play at second and Johnson to play in the outfield.

Andrews, the Rixford pitcher, gave a beautiful picture of a man whose "goat" is in the possession of another. Harry Ness, a real local fan, handed him such a snappy teasing line of chatter that the imported product from Shinglehouse stopped the game for five minutes to indulge in some personalities and an attempt to make a date for a meeting after the game. His actions had little support either from his teammates or the crowd.

But outside aid failed to furnish all that was needed, and Rixford ran away with an unearned victory, the gift of the local team in one inning's bad playing, by a score of 8-3. As usual it looked like very much of a game for the first few innings, but the fatal seventh turned the trick and the three runs scored by Rixford through the generosity of the Smethport men made too much of a handicap to overcome. Clark was in the box for Smethport and did everything that a pitcher could do to win the game from that position.

The season is now drawing rapidly to a close and football will soon occupy the attention of those interested in sports, but the loyal baseball fans of the town who have stood by the team in all its recent defeats would like to see the last few games result in victories to take the bad taste away. Let's win a couple; what say, boys?

ARCHIE MENCER BURNED.

While Archie Mencer of East Smethport was fixing the gas pipes in the cellar of his home last Sunday he lighted a match to see if any gas was escaping and the flame struck a place which had not been discovered and resulted in an explosion which burned his face and chest. He was immediately taken to a physician where he received treatment. The latest reports are that Mr. Mencer is improving rapidly.

Paul Denning, the Local Baseball Player, Injured

Paul Denning is about the streets these days on crutches as the result of an injury received in last Thursday's base ball game with Mt. Jewett. While running down a long fly over the rough ground in his field, Denning in some way brought special pressure to bear on one of the bones in his right foot in such a way that it was broken.

In as much as there was no substitute with the team who might take his position immediately, Denning was forced to play two innings after sustaining the injury, and this, of course, aggravated the trouble. Upon arriving in Smethport he at once went to Dr. Hamilton who took care of the injury and bandaged the broken bone. It will probably be the better part of two weeks before the bone will have healed sufficiently to permit of use of the foot without the crutches.

In the meantime the base ball team is deprived of one of the best players in the line-up, and the management will be really put to it to find a man who can creditably stop the gap in centerfield and at the bat in his place.

Tony Anderson of East Smethport Breaks Wrist

"Tony" Anderson, of the Anderson & Thomas Co. at East Smethport had his wrist broken while cranking a car last Monday. He was called to the plant of The Boys' Magazine to work on a gasoline engine for that firm. Mr. Anderson said the car threw him off his feet. We are glad to state that he is improving rapidly.

Bucktails Held Fine Meeting

Finance Committee Albert Johnson, Made known the Fact that the Local Post are About $875 Ahead of the Cost of Staging Their Affair.

The first regular meeting of the Bucktail Post of the American Legion since shortly before their big convention in August was held in the Hose House last Monday evening. Odds and ends left over from the celebration were cleaned up and plans were laid for further activities in the near future.

Finance officer, Albert Johnson, reporting for the Finance Committee of the convention, made known the fact that the local post are about $875 ahead of the cost of staging their affair. This came as a surprise to most of the members who had not calculated on making a penny from the two big days, the idea back of it all being simply the desire for a reunion and a big time.

No time, however, was lost in putting a large part of this amount to good use. It was decided to lay away $150 of this amount as a convention fund for the purpose of helping the Bucktails make a big showing at next year's gathering. Ten per cent of the total sum was put into the hands of the sick committee to help those members of the Post who come within the scope of their function.

From the standpoint of the community, however, undoubtedly the most interesting development was the decision of the ex-service men to start a building fund, looking ahead to the time when sufficient savings will enable them to erect their own home. In all $800, partly the proceeds from the recent minstrel show and partly money from the convention, were laid aside for this purpose. The whole sum is being invested in Liberty Bonds.

A campaign was also planned to enroll every ex-service man in the community in the local Post so that the Bucktails may earn the honor of ranking with the national organization as a 100 per cent Post. All but a very few ex-service men in this section already belong, but the boys aren't satisfied and won't be until the last one signs up.

As an echo of the convention, the Post acted unanimously in favor of a motion to express to the citizens of the town their appreciation of the very fine way in which they co-operated to make the convention the unqualified success that it was. It is of course, impossible to name all those who in one way or another lent a willing hand, but the special thanks of the Post go out to the householders who opened their homes to the town's guests, the business places which furnished material equipment of various forms, and the large number of townspeople who reached into their pockets and who devoted their time to the collection of the funds that permitted the staging of the convention.

The Bucktails are now looking forward to Armistice Day, a day which they regard as peculiarly their own. A committee has been appointed to arrange a program, the chief feature of which will be the presentation of the government's victory medals.

Still another function on their schedule is the coming re-union of the old Bucktails here as the guests of the younger Bucktails. Special announcement of this event may be expected later when the correspondence now being carried on has brought more tangible results.

Death of Geo. W. Hackett

Mr. Hackett Was Well Known Around Smethport and the Citizens of the County Regret to Lose Him.

Word was received by relatives Saturday night to the effect that Mr. George W. Hackett, late of Bradford and up to a few years ago a resident of this immediate vicinity, had died very suddenly in his home in that city. The death due to either apoplexy or hemorrhage of the brain, came as a great surprise as Mr. Hackett had apparently been in the best of health.

Mr. Hackett was one of the older citizens of this county, practically his entire life having been spent within its limits. He was born in Keating township on July 15, 1852 and up until nine years ago he lived within this same township where he raised his family of five children, four of whom survive him: James N. Hackett of Keating township, J. B. Hackett of Detroit, Leon Hackett of Bradford and Mrs. Effie James of Bradford. He is also survive by his widow, Mrs. Ormanda Hackett of Bradford, and a brother, Judson Hackett of Smethport.

In 1911 Mr. and Mrs Hackett moved to Bradford where Mr. Hackett was up to the time of his death the valued employe of the firm of Bovaird and Seyfang.

The funeral was held from his residence in Bradford yesterday (Wednesday) at 10 o'clock, his Bradford pastor officiating. Interment was made here in Smethport in the Rose Hill cemetery.

A Terrific Hail Storm.

A terrific hail storm visited this section early Sunday morning. Those who were awake to know declare that the hail was of unusual size, and that it came down with great force, but little or no damage appears to have been done on account of its arriving so late in the year.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock Zeara Cox, Jr., the five-year-old son of Zeara Cox of Mechanic street was run over by an Emporium car.

The child was coasting down the hill by Leo Herzog's on his velocipide and evidently could not stop, he ran directly in front of the car which was making the turn at J. T. Nellis'.

He was carried at once to his aunt's, Mrs. Henry Botsford, and was attended by Dr. Hamilton. His injuries are in the chest and leg, and they are not considered serious.

The wholesale price of milk will drop next month, two or three cents a gallon, according to figures given by the Dairymen's League says the Buffalo Evening News.

A DAY WITH SENATOR HARDING

Calm, Steady, Determined, the American Who Is Leading the Republican Party to Victory Goes About the Business of the Campaign in His Modest Office in Marion.

By WILLIAM HOSTER.

The American people will decide, of course. If they can visualize the vital principle which is at stake—the spirit which is at once the keynote and the mainspring of the campaign upon which the nation has entered, there can be no doubt of the result.

It isn't a thing that can be carried about the country, and exhibited from the rear end of a Pullman car. It is wholly apart from the red fire, blaring bands and stump oratory of old-fashioned campaigns. The issue, in short, goes deep down to that principle which has been the mainspring of the national life since the days of Lexington and Concord; and the patriotic citizen, Republican and Democrat alike, by taking counsel with himself, will find it imbedded in his own heart.

Here in Marion, O., you get a concrete exposition of that vital principle. It is good to come to Marion and get the true perspective. You are brought anew, here, to the realization that the country is in process of electing a chief executive to guide the destinies of 120,000,000 people for the four years ensuing from March 4 next; that the very serious business of bringing about what a European observer described as "a revolution by due process of law," is going forward with a proper regard for the dignity and importance of the task.

Scene Entirely Appropriate.

Your first impression is of the fitness of Marion as the scene for the enactment of such a chapter in American history. It is a quiet little country town, for all its boasted industrial activity; and when you approach the Harding residence, one among many in its simplicity and attractiveness, you feel it is quite in keeping with events that from this typical American home there should come a modest, dignified and capable, up-standing American upon whom the choice of his fellow citizens should fall to uphold the honor and traditions of the nation. This conviction grows when you meet the man. He is typical of the successful business man—of the hundreds of thousands of successful Americans who have accumulated a competence through the ordinary channels which are open to all hard working, straightforward American boys.

Meet him, now. He has established an office in the home of George Christian, Jr., his secretary, which adjoins the Harding house—and this is typical; chief and secretary live side by side, each owning his own modest home. And by the way, these executive officers are illuminating as to the kind of a man it is whom the Republican party has made its standard bearer in this epoch-making campaign. Every room in the house is given over to the business in hand—the senator's conference room is the Christian dining room, his private office, where the important conferences are held, is the kitchen. In the living room sits Christian. Elsewhere, from cellar to garret, the staff are at work. No confusion, no disorder, no hectic shouting at the top of one's voice, no running around in circles, pounding of the table, no Harrying, Jimmying or Billying, with strident denunciations of the other side, and loud boastings of the way the opposition candidate is to be beaten into a pulp. Just a thorough, careful, business-like transaction of the business in hand—precisely the way in which we like to think the work of 120,000,000 people will be conducted at the White House after March 4.

Step into the dining room and meet the senator. Just at the minute he is reading proof on editorials which are to be printed in his newspaper, the Marion "Star," in the afternoon. The senator stands for everything that is printed in the "Star," and is careful to read what goes into its columns before the paper goes to press. Disposing of the proof sheet, he shakes hands cordially with you, and you are at liberty to size him up.

Mark Him Dependable.

He is somewhat above the average, of course, because he has already been singled out by the people of Ohio to represent them in the senate. But aside from this: You are at once struck by his balance and his poise. You mark him as dependable—safe. There is that in his face, on his brow, which gives assurance that he is not the sort of a man who will speak without thinking, or act without deliberating. There is reserve force in his bearing, determination in his jaws, character in his mouth, kindly sympathy in his eyes.

As you listen to him talk here in the Christian dining room, or later, in a speech to a visiting delegation from the front porch of his home, this conviction is strengthened. He doesn't say anything in his office that he wouldn't say out on the porch, nor anything on the porch that he wouldn't adhere to in all sincerity in his office.

The thing that strikes you at all times—it is the very atmosphere of Marion—is his moderation, his restraint—the absence of all bombast and exaggeration in his statements, the careful presentation of the issues, the avoidance of all attempt to array one class against the other, the conveyance of the desire, if called to the presidency, to be president of all the people; and, without making any high-sounding promises, to give all of the people the best that is in him.

Avoids Personal Controversy.

Particularly noticeable is his avoidance of personal controversy. Not once since his nomination has Harding referred in a public speech to his opponent. He adheres to the issues. Not once has he permitted himself to indulge in personal denunciation of his rival.

He is sane. He has fixed convictions as to the moderation and balance which should characterize candidates for the high office of the presidency; departure from which he believes, without doing any good to the candidate who offends, does serve to bring American institutions into contempt.

During the war there was a Harding-kind of man in service as bo'sun on an American merchantman. The time came when the ship was torpedoed; and the bo'sun was put in charge of the tiller on the whaleboat in which a goodly portion of the crew took refuge. A storm arose, and there was imminent danger that the boat would be swamped. In the stern sheets sat the bo-sun, rigid and erect, his hand locked to the tiller. He said little—"Steady!" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat hard and fast on a friendly beach.

Then he got up and stretched and asked for a pipe of tobacco.

Calm, steady, determined and knowing his business, one conceives of the other Harding thus guiding the ship through any storm that may arise, to a safe harbor.

REAL ROOSEVELT ABHORRED WILSON AND HIS WORKS

Yet Democratic Candidate for Vice-Presidency Slanders Great Leader's Memory.

MAKING FUTILE ATTEMPT TO WIN ON OLD ISSUES

Fifth Cousin Removed Roosevelt Not Able to Convince Followers of T. R. by Specious Arguments.

By SCOTT O. BONE.

Touring the country as a candidate for Vice President, Franklin D. Roosevelt is vainly endeavoring to invoke the progressive spirit of 1912 in support of Wilsonism and the election of the Democratic ticket in November.

What would the real Roosevelt—Theodore Roosevelt—the immortal T. R.—say to his followers were he alive today?

Gone, he left burning words which tell all too plainly what his attitude would be at this time.

He abhorred Wilsonism, just as he abhorred Danielism, with both of which Franklin D. Roosevelt has been identified as an under Secretary.

Condemned Wilsonism.

Theodore Roosevelt condemned Wilsonism and the whole Wilson administration in unsparing terms.

Read anew what he said at Cooper Union on November 3, 1916:

"I have been assailed because I have criticised Mr. Wilson. I have not said one thing of him that was not absolutely accurate and truthful.

"I have not said one thing of him which I did not deem it necessary to say because of the vital interests of this republic.

"I have criticised him because I believe he has dragged in the dust what was most sacred in our past and has jeopardized the most vital hopes of our future. . . .

"I criticise him now because he has adroitly and cleverly and with sinister ability appealed to all that is weakest and most unworthy in the American character; and also because he has adroitly and cleverly and with sinister ability sought to mislead many men and women who are neither weak nor unworthy, but who have been misled by a shadow dance of words.

"He has made our statesmanship a thing of empty elocution.

"He has covered his fear of standing for the right behind a veil of rhetorical phrases.

"He has wrapped the true heart of the nation in a spangled shroud of rhetoric.

"He has kept the eyes of the people dazzled so that they know not what is real and what is false. So that they turn, bewildered, unable to discern the difference between the glitter that veneers evil and the stark realities of courage and honesty, of truth and strength.

"In the face of the world he has covered this nation's face with shame as with a garment."

So much for Theodore Roosevelt's opinion of Wilson and Wilsonism in support of which Franklin D. Roosevelt, life-long Democrat, would now invoke the progressive spirit of 1912!

Abhorred Danielism.

And what did Theodore Roosevelt think of Daniels' administration of the Navy Department of which the Democrat, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has been a more or less conspicuous factor and part?

In a speech on "Americanism and National Defense" at Chicago, October 26, 1916, Theodore Roosevelt said:

"More harm has been done to the navy by the politicians in power during the last three years than in the preceding thirty. Whatever good has been accomplished in the navy during the last three years has been done by naval officers, who, in most cases, have been snubbed and punished for their proposals as long as it was safe to do so; whereas Mr. Daniels now turns and claims credit for what was thus forced upon him. . . .

"In short, throughout President Wilson's term there has been neglect or positive maladministration in connection with departmental organization in navy yards, aeronautics, mines and torpedoes, and in all other matters affecting the efficiency of the fleet and the enthusiasm of its officers and men. . . . The activity and energy of the Navy Department under President Wilson has been primarily concentrated upon schemes aimed at vote-getting or advertising."

This, then, is what Theodore Roosevelt thought of the administration of the Department from which Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat and exponent of Wilsonism, fain would reach the Vice Presidency and have progressives of 1912, followers of the real Roosevelt, help to keep the Democratic party in power and make Wilsonism endure!

It is inconceivable that any true follower of Theodore Roosevelt will hearken to such a preposterous appeal.

SEES IN HARDING BEST TRADITIONS, IDEALS AND HOPES

Nominee's Former Pastor Still Boosting Man Who Will Be Leader and Not Dictator.

FINDS IN SENATOR NO TRACE OF RADICALISM

Declares Justice, Kindliness and Mercy Stand Out as Foremost Characteristics of Republican Candidate.

Included among the Minnesota Republicans working faithfully and industriously in behalf of Senator Harding, is Rev. D. B. Martin, of Winnebago, Minn., formerly pastor of the Marion, Ohio, Baptist Church and Senator Harding's pastor. The other day Rev. Martin was asked just why he is so enthusiastic about Senator Harding, and this is what he said:

"It is a peculiar pleasure for me to continue the work which I began twenty-five years ago. It was my privilege to stand on the side lines and boost for Senator Harding when he received his first nomination for public office. When he was a candidate for the senate I was visiting in Ohio and had the pleasure of boosting for him. It is, therefore, a peculiar pleasure to join with this bunch of Minnesota boosters in seeking to put Senator Harding over, in the greatest gift within the power of the people. Being a clergyman, I have been constantly asked by my friends at the college commencement in Michigan, in Chicago and in Minnesota why I am such a persistent booster for Mr. Harding, and I have been asked to state in this presence my reasons for doing so. These are three:

"The first pertains to certain elements of his character. I will give you these as I received them while I was pastor of the Baptist Church in this city, of which Mr. Harding is a member. I asked him and a group of other men to make some Sunday evening addresses. I do not remember much that Senator Harding said at that time, but I do remember very distinctly the words with which he closed his address and which have stood all these years as outstanding elements of his character to me. He closed the address by a quotation from the Prophets, in which he said: 'And what doth the Lord thy God require of thee but to do justly and love mercy and walk humbly with thy God.' Justice, mercy, kindliness and humility have in all these years stood as foremost characteristics of Mr. Harding's life—characteristics which are always attractive and make a man's life worth while.

"The second reason is because I believe that there is focused in him the best traditions, ideals and purposes of the great Republican party and so peculiarly fit him to be their leader in this great crisis of the nation's life. I use the word 'leader' advisedly, for it is leadership that we are needing and not arbitrary, dictatorial, autocratic rule. We have had enough of that. If a boss is desired there would be no need for making any change, for the boss that we have is the bossiest.

"The third reason is because I find in him no trace of radicalism. To me radicalism is the greatest danger that we have to face. Our interests are too diverse to admit of anything of that character. We have our agricultural group with its interests. We have the labor group withits interests. We have our financial interests. We have that other great group known as the public, that has always been made the 'goat,' with its interests. All of these are of vital interest to the common weal and I believe that Senator Harding is broad enough and sympathetic enough so that the interests of each will be blended in the common interest of all, and all will be perfectly safe under his leadership."

"READ THAT, MR. COX" AND MR. COX DID READ.

A little incident connected with candidate Cox's recent campaign visit to New York indicates that the Democratic nominee is striving to forget certain indiscreet editorials which appeared in his newspaper, the Dayton News, before the owner of the paper aspired to the Presidency.

As the Democratic nominee was leaving the Hotel Commodore after luncheon a commercial traveler forced his way through the throng of curious spectators and thrust into Mr. Cox's hand an editorial clipping which proved to be his denunciation of the commercial travelers of the United States. "Read that, Mr. Cox," commanded the traveling man. The Democratic candidate unfolded the frayed column of newspaper matter, glanced at the heading, scanned the first paragraph, flushed scarlet to the ears and crumpling the offensive and offending editorial in his fist mumbled something which none of those near him at the time would repeat and hurried to his waiting automobile.

In 1904 one of Mr. Cox's newspapers denounced the army of traveling salesmen as "unmitigated bores." What would he say now that he desires their votes?—South Bend (Ind.) Tribune.

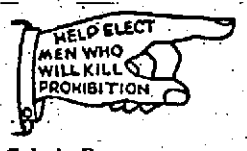
LIQUOR DEALERS ASK FOR FUNDS TO AID CANDIDATE COX AS A PRONOUNCED "WET"

(Verbatim copy of letter presented to Senatorial Investigating Committee, at Chicago, by Chairman Will H. Hays of Republican National Committee.)

Office of
The President

845 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.



July 22, 1920.

Cabain Bros.,

Dear Sir and Brother:

The organized liquor trade of New Jersey has set out to do its part toward the election of James M. Cox as the next President of the United States and it becomes my duty to call upon you to help. More than that we are going to fight as we never fought before to keep the hirelings of the Anti-Saloon League out of office; to elect Congressmen in the twelve Congressional districts of the State who will vote to amend the Volstead Act so as to permit the sale of light wine and beer; to elect Assemblymen and State Senators who will keep New Jersey from ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment and prevent the passage of any law concurring in the Volstead Act in its present form.

The nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio for the presidency by the Democrats is a big victory for our interests and it can be attributed to a great degree to the activity of our trade organizations here in New Jersey and throughout the nation. Governor Cox is a pronounced "wet" and he can be relied upon to approve an amendment to the Volstead Act as suggested above. It is now up to our trade organizations to stand unitedly behind the ticket of Cox and Roosevelt and roll up such a majority as will show convincingly that the public well is in our favor. Are you going to help? Of course you are.

This is going to be the greatest political fight in the history of the United States. Your liberty and mine has been taken from us. Our business has been unjustly confiscated. The rights of the people have been seized and they are lined up with us in the mighty struggle that is soon to be decided by the battle of the ballot.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court has thrown the question of Prohibition squarely into politics. It is the vital issue in the Campaign that is now under way. The prohibitionists tried to keep the question out of the campaign. They feared the vote of an outraged and indignant public. It is up to us—members of the organized liquor trade—to force the fight. That is just what we are doing.

We have issued the challenge. The Anti-Saloon League is forced to fight. It has made an appeal for a $30,000 fund to elect dry Congressmen who will uphold the Volstead Act and dry candidates to the State Senate and Assembly to force ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment on New Jersey. There is no question about the Anti-Saloon League's ability to raise the amount asked. How much can we raise?

We must have money at once to carry on the work that we have planned. Do not think for a moment that there is plenty of time to give between now and election. The fall will be too late. Money must be had immediately if we are to maintain our headquarters and continue the propaganda that is necessary in the drive to win public opinion. This is the second appeal that I have sent you. The first you evidently overlooked. I would not bother you now if it were not for the fact that your own interests hang in the balance just as much as mine. Let me beg of you to remain loyal to the cause to the finish. Make this your last contribution if you will but give—give something.

Your record on the roster of your local associations and also on that of the State League showed that you have been loyal and regular in the past. Do keep that record unsullied to the very end. I have always had your co-operation in the past please let me have it now for the Federation is to put up a bigger fight than it ever made before.

So that we may know at once just what our resources are, may we not ask you to promptly return the inclosed card filled out with your remittance.

Jump in and help us fight. Give as much as you can afford. This is not merely a battle to save your business but one to preserve something more sacred namely, your personal liberty.

Yours fraternally,

Geo. L. Carroll

Hawaii now claims the wettest spots on earth. From records covering a long period, Cherrapunji, a village at an elevation of about 4,500 feet in the Khasi hills in India, has established a rainfall average of 426 inches a year, with a maximum of 905 inches in the questionable record for 1861. Short period observations show that Mount Waialeale, the central peak of the island of Kauai, with a height of 5,080 feet, has a yearly average of 476 inches; while estimates for nearby localities for the wet years of 1914 and 1918, when no records were kept, make it appear that the rainfall then must have exceeded 600 inches. Other parts of Hawaii are scarcely less damp. Pun Kukui, 5,000 feet high, on the island of Maui, has had a seven-year average of 360 inches, with a maximum of 502 inches in 1914. At least a dozen other spots, above 1,000 feet of elevation, are reported to have exceeded 350 inches in each of the years 1914 and 1918.

USE GREEN TOMATOES TO MAKE MARMALADE

Recipe Given Out by Department of Agriculture.

Caramel Flavor Given by Increasing Heat at Very Last—Rind of Lemon and Orange Give Somewhat Different Effect.

(By U. S. Public Health Service).

To those who are fond of the piquant flavor of green tomatoes in made dishes, the following recipe for marmalade, given out by the department of agriculture, will be welcome:

Green Tomato Marmalade.

2 pounds green tomatoes.
1½ cup of syrup.
One-half lemon and 1 orange, or one-quarter cup sugar.
Pie-lemons (10 ounces).

Wash and trim tomatoes, cut into slices medium thick. Cut lemon and orange into very thin slices. (Be careful to pick out all seeds). Add sirup and sugar. A small amount of salt (one-eighth to one-fourth teaspoonful) is often considered advantageous; here, as always, it renders the sweet taste of sugar less cloying. Boiling orange peel for a few minutes in salted water prevents its hardening later, when cooked in sirup.

Heat slowly, stirring until well mixed, then simmer gently until the tomatoes are soft and the marmalade has the consistency of thick, heavy jam. This will require three to four hours. There should be about one pint of marmalade.

If a caramel flavor is liked, the heat may be slightly increased at the very last so that the jam darkens at the bottom next the kettle; but great care must be taken not to overdo this effect as the jam is easily scorched.

A somewhat different effect may be obtained by chopping the rind of lemon and orange. At the end of the long cooking process these bits of chopped rind seem much like chopped nuts.

Orange flavor in preserves does not last indefinitely, apart from the tang of the rind. Consequently this marmalade is best when only a few days or weeks old.

WATCH LABELS ON BOTTLES

Poisons Should Be Kept Under Lock and Key—Antidotes to Be Used.

(By United States Public Health Service.)

Accidental poisoning may be prevented to a very great extent by never tasting or taking anything into the mouth which is not plainly labeled. It is also very wise to put all poisons, when they must be kept on hand, in a safe place and under lock and key.

Sudden and severe sickness shortly after eating, drinking or taking medicine in a person who has been in good health, is often a symptom of poisoning.

If a number of persons who have eaten the same food become seriously ill after a meal, it is almost certain that they are suffering from poisoning, probably from that form of poisoning which is due to decayed, fermented or rotten food, and which is termed "ptomaine poisoning." Such accidents should always be reported to the department of health for careful investigation.

Send for a doctor at once. Direct the messenger to tell the doctor that the person has been poisoned and give the name of the suspected poison if possible, so that the doctor may bring the proper antidote.

Do not wait for the doctor to arrive but give an emetic to aid in ridding the body of the unabsorbed poison. Warm water, mustard and water, salt water, ipecac or other common emetic may be employed, or the patient's throat may be tickled to produce vomiting. Do not waste time in looking up the proper dose of an emetic and repeat if profuse vomiting does not result.

SALT PESKY FLEAS TO DEATH

Pests Usually Get Into House Through Basement or Other Places Where Dogs Sleep.

Last year was an unusually bad year for fleas about houses. The time is again at hand when, though the voice of the flea may not be heard in the land, his tickling will be felt in the flesh—unless the simple preventive is applied. Fleas usually get into the house from the basement or some place where dogs or other animals have slept. Make a thorough clean-up. Then sprinkle the floor well with salt and wet it down—not wet enough to cause it to run. It may be necessary to repeat this treatment two or three times at intervals of about three days.

AIR SERVICE GOES TO AID OF SALVATION LASSIES

Salvation Army lassies all over the United States are busy just now getting ready for the nation-wide Home Service appeal for $10,000,000 the Army is to make from May 10 to 20. Here are some of the popular blue-bonneted girls loading an airplane with printed matter so urgently needed that the usual method of shipment would have been too slow.

The supplies which were in New York City had to be in Albany the same afternoon. The United States Air Service stepped into the breach and got them there from the flying field on Long Island in a little over two hours. The obliging aviator is Sergeant J. Cole. The three lassies are all "war veterans."

United States Has Perhaps the Most Valuable Fishery in Which All Coast States Share.

The United States has what is said to be the most valuable fishery in the world, but probably not one person in ten can name it. It is conducted in every seacoast state from Cape Cod to the Rio Grande, and from Puget sound up to San Francisco, and it yields annually about 115,000 tons of food as prepared for consumption, an equivalent of 400,000 dressed steers. It employs about 67,000 persons, and its annual product, as it comes from the water, is valued at over $15,000,000. There are other fisheries that possibly exceed it in the ultimate value of their products, but in such cases much labor and material and a heavy investment of capital have been concerned in manufacturing operations to prepare the product for the consumer; as, for example, the canned-salmon industry of the Pacific coast. The American fishery for codfish on the Atlantic coast, which has been the cause of much diplomatic discussion and of grave international negotiations, appears almost insignificant in comparison, its value in normal times before the great war being about $3,000,000 yearly; and the shad fishery, the prospects of which each spring call forth much comment in the public press, produces not one-tenth as much food. The most valuable fishery is that which furnishes us with oysters. The bureau of fisheries has more than once called attention to this vast food resource and the possibilities for increasing it and using it to better advantage.

CHINESE TURNING TO SPORTS

Necessity for Physical Culture Is Beginning to Be Recognized in the New Republic.

Physical culture and all types of athletics were, until very recently, held in contempt by the Chinese, and consequently the Shanghai boys did not know what the joy of indulging in baseball and other sports meant, says Boys' Life. Ages ago chariot driving, archery and the other classic sports played an important part in Chinese education. With the dawning of China's literary golden age, however, the scholars could not see how mental perfection could be attained if there was any thought of athletic prowess. Muscles and brawn, they said, belonged to the peasant, and the gentleman of culture should show his good breeding by a scholary pallor, stooped shoulders and a general unhealthy appearance.

This attitude toward physical development persisted for centuries, and it has been only within the last few decades that interest has been vouchsafed in sports. With the introduction of new educational methods and the entrance of occidental theories into the orient, athletics once more came into their own and the Chinese student tucked up his cue and his dignity and went in for pole vaulting and hurdling.

China has now the idea that a nation's economic progress depends largely on the healthy bodies and minds of its citizo nd missionaries find little difficu winning subscriptions for for the schools.

Queen Pleasure's Carnival.

All the Protestant churches acknowledge the continual diminution of their congregations and are earnestly endeavoring to discover why the great majority abstain from public worship, says a Sydney, N. S. W., dispatch to the London Times. Several novel schemes have been propounded to make services more attractive, but the clergy flinch from any startling innovations. Recently Rev. C. Black at a meeting of the Baptist union declared that "Queen Pleasure holds high carnival," and continued: "The churches are unheeded by the mass of pleasure trippers, who patter by with feet tingling with the torch of the tango, ears atingle with the jingle of the jazz, and hearts aflame with riotous passion."

Record Energy.

Darwin has made many records, its most picturesque recent exploit being the deportation of unpopular officials from the Northern territory, but hitherto no one has accused the wharfmen in this tropical outpost of Australia's north of establishing working records. Recently, however, the management of Vestey's Meat works promised the wharf laborers loading a meat steamer payment for 17 shifts in order to get the vessel away promptly. According to a correspondent of one of the Southern newspapers, the wharf lumpers performed the work in 15 shifts and received £101 each.—New Australasian.

Church Valuation.

All denominations in the United States own a little over 200,000 church edifices valued at about $1,700,000,000.

A Hefty Trinity.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Commenting on a recent bromide, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., issues the following statement:

"Speaking a few days ago at Fargo, North Dakota, candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to create prejudice against Mr. Harding by asserting that the nomination of the latter had been brought about through the assistance of Penrose, Lodge, Root and other men of the same type. Well, if true, what of it?

"Mr. Penrose has been in public life in his state for 36 years, having been elected to the State House of Representatives, the State Senate and the United States by the people who know him best. He has been the center of as bitter political fights as ever been witnessed in any state. In 1914, when he was last elected, his party was divided by the nomination of a Progressive ticket, with the most popular Progressive as the nominee against him. Nevertheless, Penrose won by a plurality of practically 250,000 and had practically as many votes as both of his opponents combined. The Democratic candidate was A. Mitchell Palmer, who had the Wilson administration support, and the Progressive candidate was Gifford Pinchot, who had the energetic assistance of men long experienced in politics. The opposing candidates and their supporters had both the opportunity and the ability to detect any irregularity in the election. It is not only a financial but a physical impossibility to secure a plurality of 250,000 votes by improper methods. The fact is that no one has even questioned the absolute honesty of the Penrose election.

"Mr. Lodge has been in public life for 40 years, serving in the state legislature, the United States House of Representatives and the United States Senate. After he had served the people of his state for 37 years, he was re-elected to the United States Senate by a plurality of 33,000 over Fitzgerald, one of the cleverest politicians in the Democratic party. In the same year Hughes carried Massachusetts by 20,000. After 37 years of intimate knowledge of his life and work the people of his state voiced their 'well done, good and faithful servant.' Lodge was for years a close personal friend and confident of the late Colonel Roosevelt.

"Mr. Root has been in public life for 37 years, holding legal and legislative positions in state and nation too numerous to itemize. He retired from the Senate of his own volition. He was Secretary of War in the McKinley cabinet and Secretary of State in the Roosevelt cabinet; member of numerous international tribunals and recipient of national and international honors unsurpassed.

"These three men, Penrose, Lodge and Root have been lifelong members of the Republican party and there has never been a word of criticism of their absolute fidelity. They have been repeatedly honored with seats in National conventions by virtue of authority from their constituents. Penrose and Lodge were duly elected delegates to the recent convention but Root was not, as he was abroad. As a matter of fact, these three men did not determine the nomination of Harding, but, if they had, what of it? Is there any question of their patriotism, any question of their soundness of judgment, any question of their right to participate fully in any convention to which they are elected?

"Whenever the Democratic campaign managers can produce in behalf of Murphy, Taggart, Brennan and Nugent a public record such as that made by Penrose, Lodge and Root, it will be ample time for them to try to create prejudice against a Republican nominee because of his support in the convention. The Republican party is proud of Penrose, Lodge and Root and their service for the American nation. If they were supporters of Harding, the party is also proud of that, and has no apologies to offer. If Mr. Cox had the support of men of similar high attainments, his chances of election would be infinitely better.

Free to Decide.

Discussing the Polish situation, candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt asserts that because the United States is not a member of the League of Nations all it can do is extend sympathy. Absolutely wrong. The fact that the United States is not a member of the League does not preclude it from doing anything it sees fit for the aid of Poland. The United States aided Cuba without being member of a league. It has rendered aid to many of a nation stricken by misfortune, without being a member of a league nations. The United States helped defeat Germany without being a member of a league this county did not even enter the alliance but fought in cooperation. If the United States desires to send food or munitions or money or soldiers to Poland, it is absolutely free to do so. On the other hand, since the United States is not a member of the League, it is also absolutely free not to do any of these things unless it deems such action wise and proper. Under the terms of the league covenant, the United States, if a member, would be under binding obligations to send money or supplies or troops upon the order of the league even if against its judgment. The Democratic candidate has in reality testified to the wisdom of those Republicans in the Senate who kept this nation free from the obligations of the league.

"Enemy Hands."

"Before the treaty was submitted to the Senate in the manner the Constitution provides, they (the Republicans) violated every custom and everyconsideration of decency by presenting a copy of the document, proured unblushingly from enemy hands, and passed it into the printed record of Senatorial proceedings." Candidate Cox, in his acceptance speech. Now, why should enemy hands have been entrusted with the document before the American people were informed of its contents? Are the hands of Thomas Lamont, the financial adviser of Mr. Wilson at the peace conference, now considered "enemy hands."? And what has Mr. Cox to say of Mr. wilson's "open covenants of peace openly arrived at," and his promise to the United States Senate that it would be kept informed of all that transpired in the course of the peace deliberations? Heavens, but Cox is a lemon!

RUSSIAN HERO IN PAJAMAS

Soldier of Denikin's Army, Decorated for Bravery, Attired in Altogether Unconventional Uniform.

The highest decoration for valor that could be given a soldier in Denikin's army was pinned to the breast of a soldier whose uniform ran a close second to that of Kipling's hero, Gunga Din, says a communication from Ekaterinodar, South Russia, to the Stars and Stripes.

The medal was pinned to the soldier's jacket, which was the upper part of a pair of pajamas, and the rest of his outfit was only a pair of British military trousers. He was barefooted and hatless.

The clothing worn by this man typifies the conditions that exist in the army fighting the bolsheviki in that country. They do not have a service of supply and they do not have a regulation uniform.

General Bradoff, who decorated the pajama-jacketed hero, wore the tunic of a British Tommie, and the guard of troops who furnished the background for the decoration ceremonies, wore parts of uniforms from a dozen different armies. With the exception of a group of Cossack cavalry, the decorated soldier was the neatest-dressed man of the lot.

The hero, on his own initiative, led a detachment of scouts in capturing a town from the bolsheviki. He was wounded in carrying out this exploit, taken to a hospital and given a suit of pajamas. When he left he took the pajama jacket to replace his wornout Russian tunic, and he had not been able to replace it.

CORYVILLE

(Too late for last week's issue)

Gladys and Mary Parker left one day last week for Perry, N. Y., where Mary will attend high school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Haynes of Larabee were recent guests of their son, Joseph Haynes and family.

John Ellis of Windfall was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rice Saturday evening and attended grange.

The community was shocked to learn of the death Monday morning of Homer, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard I. Holmes. The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes came down with the whooping cough about a week ago. Homer suffered an attack of tonsilitis during the week but had recovered somewhat when about 8 o'clock Saturday evening spasmodic croup developed, everything possible was done to relieve the little sufferer. He leaves his parents, one sister, Sara, two brothers, Richard and John. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. The funeral was held in the U. B. Church at 1 p.m. Wednesday afternoon with burial at Smethport. Services by Rev. Pang.

The MINER extends congratulations to the young man.

COURT ON IN FULL SWING

Monday morning in the court of common pleas the case of Harry Crooks vs. Mrs. Mary DeHart, an appeal on a labor claim which was opened to yesterday afternoon's session, was concluded. After all the evidence had been heard the case was turned over to the jury at 11 o'clock, the jury retiring. At this time the judge ordered recess until 2 o'clock, to allow the judge, the county commissioners and F. D. Gallup to make a trip of inspection to a certain site and property in Port Allegany. The Benton estate has offered to donate the site and handsome residence located in Port Allegany for a children's home and the authorities after inspecting the property will no doubt act in the matter.

After court opens at 2 o'clock the case of Hattie Edmunds vs. Protected Home Circle will be heard. The case has to do with the death of Mrs. Edmunds of High street, this city, who died on January 3, 1917, at her home. She was found in the bath room with the room filled with gas fumes. Acting Coroner Robbins at that time pronounced death caused by suicide. The P. H. C. it seems has a suicide clause in its insurance policy and refuses to pay the full amount of the policy in case of suicide. The daughter of Mrs. Edmunrs is suing for the full amount. Mr. Robbins will be one of the witnesses. It is said that Mrs. Edmunds went to the bath room of her home, closed it up tight, turned on the gas and wrapped something about her head.

It is expected that the jury will give its verdict in the Crooks-DeHart case at this afternoon's session.

The court of common pleas opened yesterday at the court house with 27 cases on the trial list. Of this number 13 were continued and one passed until Thursday. The case of A. M. Marsh vs. McKean County and that of Thomas Flaherty vs. the county were continued owing to the absence of material witnesses. The case of P. J. Bagley vs. B. F. Hamilton was continued on account of an application as to the sanity of the defendant.

The action of the Eldred Home Gas & Fuel company vs. William H. Haughney, landlord, and J. B. Dennis, constable, was continued owing to the illness of E. A. Barden. The case of Sidney D. Stafford vs. Jacob Rubenstein, was continued on account of the absence of Dr. Joseph, a witness.

The action of J. E. Keelan vs. Sarah Wolven was passed until Thursday.

A memorial for the late Sheridan Gorton of this place was presented by a committee on resolutions, consisting of J. E. Mullin, C. W. Catlin and F. D. Gallup. Appropriate remarks by the court and members of the bar were made. The memorial was adopted, placed on file and a copy ordered sent to Mr. Gordon's widow.

The following cases already had been continued at argument court. Mrs. George Guncheon vs. Port Allegany Water company; Bradford Textile company vs. Jones Bros. Tea company; W. A. Mullett vs. Fred Nunn. The following cases also were continued: C. Prouty & Company vs. Eldred Home Gas & Fuel company; W. A. Young vs. J. C. Young; City of Bradford vs. F. A. Hooker (by agreement); J. P. Smith vs. Prouty & Woods; D. L. Dennis vs. Donald Lang.

The Means to an End of Waste Space

A few panels of Beaver Board, a little wood trim, a hammer, nails and saw—all you need to cover up old cracked plaster and wallpaper and put new life into any part of the house.

Beaver Board plays a major part in this worthwhile operation. While it is covering up unsightly cracks and dingy wallpaper it is providing a surface for painting and decorating, and ending the wall and ceiling question once and for all time.

Beaver Board is built up into large flawless panels from strong, pure wood fibres. When you have lived with it you will know why it is displacing lath and plaster in new houses and putting new life into old ones.

League of Women Voters.

Tuesday evening, September 7, at St. Luke's Parish House, was held the first of a series of classes in the citizenship course of Smethport League of Women Voters adopted for study for the coming year. The meeting was well attended and was opened by the chairman, Mrs. W. T. Daly the roll call was answered by political current events. Some very forceful facts were brought out at this meeting.

Mrs. Daly had charge of the lesson for the evening, which was the first two lessons in the catachism of the constitution of the W. S.. This was conducted as a class in school, then followed an informal discussion regarding some of the things the Woman Voter will need to know before she votes this fall, such as when and where she must pay her taxes if she must affiliate before she can vote. Why the taxes are one amount in Smethport borough and very much less in many parts of the county and more in others. These and many other questions were discussed. All the women of this borough and surrounding country may become members of this league by sending in their name to Mrs. J. M. Wiant, secretary and by payment of $1 yearly dues, but all women are urged to come to these classes whether they are members or not if they desire to learn to be good citizens.

The next regular meeting will be Wednesday evening, October 13, at 7:30 p.m.. On Thursday, October 7, a county convention of the League of Women Voters of McKean County will be held in St. Lukes Parish house at 10:00 a.m. and 2 p.m. Luncheon will be served to all visiting delegates at 12.30 and Mrs. Jno. O. Miller of Pittsburgh, president and the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, will be the speaker. This is a public meeting and all women of the town should be present to hear Mrs. Miller as she is a woman of splendid ability and national reputation.

Announcement will appear later regarding the subject of her lecture.

A DELIGHTFUL OUTING

Through the kindness of W. H. Gallup, trustee of the Heinemann estate, in furnishing the train and of the train crew who donated their services, Oginac Council No. 188 O. of P. with Nunundah Tribe No. 92 I. O. R. M. as their guests, gave an excursion to and picnic at Windfall Camp on Colegrove Brook, Sunday, September 12th. The train consisting of two open cars so that all could enjoy the scenery as it wound its way around the hills and a caboose filled with "eats" left Crosby at 10 a.m. arriving at Windfall about noon.

First the papooses were fed and then turned loose to enjoy themselves. A bountiful repast was served to all and it is wonderful what an open air dinner will do to the appetites of dyspoptics and other invalids. At 2 o'clock all boarded the train again for a two hours' ride through valleys and over hills, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, stopping again at Windfall on the return trip, where Sachem McKelrnan, brewed coffee over the council fire, while Past Sachem Hulett gave a short talk on "Fraternalism". C. of R. Pathrop explained the benefits of the Orphan Fund and how it is administered. Past Sachem McAllister, in a short talk on behalf of the Tribe, thanked the ladies and extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Gallup and to the train crew Messrs. Troedsons and Benson, for a very enjoyable and beneficial day.

The "Great Spirit" was silently thanked for the beautiful weather and his goodness to all, when the tepees were silently folded and the long trail of another year was taken up.

A wonderful picture will be seen at the Star Theater Friday and Saturday, September 17 and 18, Alice Lake, in "Shore Aces." If you are looking for high-class photoplays, don't miss this one. Price 17c and 28c. adv38w1

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS GETTING PRACTICE

The high school foot ball squad is practicing diligently every evening after the afternoon dismissal at Kane Field regardless of the weather. A good deal of interest is being taken by the boys this year and a very fair average number is out each time. Considerable advance was made in the training last week, there being enough out usually to permit of several minutes' scrimmage and practical work with interference on end runs, attack on line plunges, an dthe methods of offense and defeace on the more ordinary plays.

Several of the recently graduated high school stars have found time to drop around to the field and have given invaluable service in the way of suggestions. Their co-operation is fully appreciated and solicited. The team this year shapes up now fairly well as light but fast.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMAN BREAKS AUTOMOBILE RECORD IN JAPAN

Breaking all records in automobile travel between Yokohama and Kobe, Japan, Mrs. C. R. Thompson, wife of a San Francisco importer, is the first woman to pilot an automobile over this dangerous territory. The 500 miles between the two cities were covered by Mrs. Thompson in a little more than 31 hours.—StarlRecord.
